“The title of my PhD research paper is ‘A Critical and Analytical Review of the Literary Services of Monthly Adab-e-Latif (1935-1995).’ This paper examines the 61-year publication history of the literary journal Adab-e-Latif, which was first published in Lahore in 1935. While many contemporary journals of the 20th Century have ceased publication, Adab-e-Latif continues to be published from Lahore to this day. Chaudhry Barkat Ali launched journal, Adab-e-Latif, remained a long-standing organ of the progressive movement for a considerable period and gained a prestigious and distinctive position as a trend-setting literary magazine in the world of Urdu publications. Eminent writers like Mirza Adeeb, Ahmad Nadeem Qasmi, Raiz Ahmad Faiz, Rajinder Singh Bedi, Fikr Taunsvi, and others served as its editors. In the fields of ghazal, nazm, short story, and criticism, this journal (Adab-e-Latif) bestowed upon Urdu literature creators who later became leading figures in Urdu literature. This research paper provides a comprehensive review of all the services rendered by Monthly Adab-e-Latif and determines its position among Urdu literary journals.”
